Islam Experts Warn America About the Dangers of Radical Islam

by IMCNews Publisher and White House Correspondent Rev. Dr. Matthew Anthony Harper
October 4, 2026

At the White House

(BOISE, Id)—It's crucial to know how radical Islamists have chosen to ride into America on the coat tails of the Socialists and Communists to form their Red-Green Alliance which is made clear to me in these aligned political candidates operating in the Democratic Socialists of America Party (DSA).

Of the most infamous member of the DSA radical Muslims is Zohran Mamdani, the new Mayor of New York City who is a key example of hypocrisy claiming to be a good American on one hand but being anti American with opposing our U.S. Constitution and a Jew hater on the other with Antisemitic behavior

What is totally unacceptable is for someone like Mamdani and others like him to take their oath to office on a religious book other than the Holy Bible. Mamdani took his oath on the Islamic book of the Qur'an which is in direct conflict with our Judeo-Christian based U.S. Constitution. To allow him and others to do this is in my opinion, is Treason. American citizens are called to protect our homeland from all enemies foreign and domestic but that's not fully happening in our United States.

Mamdani and others like him are not protecting America. they are harming it!

The growing influence of Islam in the United States and the rest of our 'Free World' has gained much more attention since Europe has pretty much fallen to radical Islamic ideology and now our beloved United States of America, the leader of the 'Free World,' may not have more than a couple years left. That is the sentiment of two top Islam experts Dr. Mordechai Kedar and William Federer who say our U.S. Constitutional freedoms are in peril and we must act quickly or America will fall. I had interviews with these Islam experts recently that you can watch on our InterMountain Christian News YouTube channel.

The key point that stands out in my interviews with these

One Year Later, Turning Point Pursuing Next Generation Its Late Founder Died Trying to Reach

by Parrish Alford American Family News, Used by Permission, AFN.net September 10, 2026

Thursday marks a year since hate erased the earthly voice of one who so eloquently mixed Christian faith with conservative principles and constitutional politics.

Charlie Kirk engaged students on college campuses, inviting opposing viewpoints, finding many, then dissecting them. He had real conversations even when young people challenged him from opposite positions that were often drilled into them from a teacher or professor.

When challenged, Kirk was patient and kind but firm and unwavering.

It was in this setting, a college campus at Utah Valley University, when Tyler Robinson, allegedly, fired a bullet into Kirk's neck.

And it's when Andrew Kolvet started running.

Not running from Kirk but into the void he left. Kolvet was a friend, a confidant and remains the Turning Point USA spokesman.

There's been so much work to do to ensure that Kirk's message isn't silenced even if his voice is, so much running, that the year has passed quickly for Kolvet, he said on American Family Radio Thursday.

Kolvet said he runs because he cares, and he knows Charlie cared, too.

"The reason we didn't shrink back, or we didn't stop moving, is because I just remember our very first instinct, my very first instinct and so many people around here was just...we have to keep going for Charlie. We owe it to him," he told show host Jenna Ellis.

Kirk inspired his TPUSA staff as he inspired so many others.

"We feel duty bound and honor bound to just seize every last drop of momentum, of inspiration that came from Charlie's life, in the aftermath of that terrible, tragic assassination, evil," Kolvet said.

The running has been rewarded.

TPUSA has grown substantially in the year since Kirk's death.

It claims a presence at more than 6,200 high

Halloween: Separating Fact From Fiction

Used by permission of the American Tract Society http://www.ATStract.org

In North America, the yearly observance of Halloween amounts to a multi-billion-dollar industry, second only to Christmas... selling costumes, candy and food items, party supplies, greeting cards, tours of so called haunted houses, and other forms of entertainment. But what is the history of this particular day? The story may surprise you.

FACT: It's Old

More than two thousand years ago, a people called the Celts (Kelts) lived in what are now Ireland, Great Britain, and France. Among the Celtic people was an elite intellectual class known as the Druids, who served as religious priests, judges, lawmakers, and scientists. They had an elaborate pagan religious festival, along with certain rituals. Chief among these was the Fire Festival called Samhain, observed at harvest time to mark the Celtic New Year.

The Celts believed that on this night the barrier between the natural world and the supernatural was removed, and the spirits of the dead were able to move freely among human beings. Samhain was the most solemn and important night in the Celtic year.

FACT: Christians had a Part

After the Roman Catholic Church brought Christianity to the Celtic peoples in the seventh century, some of their traditional folk customs were Christianized. In 835 A.D. Pope Gregory IV moved the church's "Feast of All Saints" from the spring to November 1st to replace the observance of Samhain. All Saint's Day, still observed today by many Christians, honored believers who had died. The night before, which featured a sacred vigil in church, became known as "All Hallow's Eve," or Halloween. But the old practices of the Druids died hard and were denounced by the church as witchcraft. This is how Halloween became known as a witch's holiday.

FACT: Today's Customs are Different

Dressing in costumes and going door-to-door comes from a much later tradition in the British Isles, a practice not restricted to Halloween. Masked players would go from house-tohouse, putting on a simple drama or musical performance in return for food and drink. Often these performances had Christian themes.

The "trick-or-treat" custom we know today is thoroughly American in origin. In the nineteenth century, when Irish and Scottish immigrants brought their Halloween traditions to North America, the night became an occasion for pranks and mischief. Vandals would go through the night, soaping windows, overturning outhouses, and pulling gates from their hinges. These pranks were playfully said to be the work of witches and ghosts, but by the 1920s the joke wasn't funny anymore. The damage to neighborhoods was mounting.

To counteract Halloween vandalism, community clubs like the Boy Scouts began to organize alternatives that are safe and fun. Children were encouraged to go door-to-door and receive treats from homeowners and merchants, keeping the troublemakers away. By the 1930s, the practice was popular nationwide, and young voices crying, "Trick or treat!" were echoing through neighborhood streets.

In this way, a combination of pagan, Christian, and civic elements formed the Halloween celebration we know today. In recent decades, however, a renewed interest in the old pagan beliefs has blossomed in North America.

Popular entertainment, including television shows like "Buffy: The Vampire Slayer," and even "Sabrina, the Teenage Witch," make occult themes and witchcraft seem fun and acceptable. The result is that Halloween today has become strongly associated with the occult and a preoccupation with the dead—two influences that Scripture and the church have always warned against.

Idaho Group of Visiting Christians Struggle to Return to US During March Conflict

by Dee Sienknecht, IMC News Art Director Oxtober 12, 2026

Jeremy & Heather Lucas - group leaders of Idaho group of Christians who travelled to Israel

In March 2026, tensions continued on the ground in Israel as the US and Israel continued bombing Iran.

A group of Idahoans were stranded in Israel as escalating tensions in the region grounded flights and disrupted travel plans. A member of the Idaho group reported their experiences in trying to return home from Israel:

Jeremy Lucas, who lives in Eagle, said the group was nearing the end of a planned 10-day tour of biblical sites when the situation intensified over the weekend.

He said their group of 17 include 12 members of Capital Church in Meridian.

Lucas said what began as a long-anticipated trip quickly turned uncertain.

"It's pretty surreal," Lucas said. "I think we've all seen these videos over the years on social media, YouTube, things like that. So, to be here when the sirens are going off and seeing the missiles firsthand and we're getting the footage on our own cell phones, it's a little eye-opening for sure."

Lucas said the group was preparing to head home when flights were shut down over the weekend, leaving them waiting for updates and considering alternate plans.

"People have jobs to get back to – kids," he said.

A bomb flying over the group's heads

New documentary corrects liberal news narrative of October 7

By John Riley

American Family News, Reprinted with

As the world continues to reflect on the devastating events of October 7, new documentary projects are capturing both the trauma of that day and the broader resurgence of global antisemitism.

For Jewish people, October 7 is a day that they will never forget as demonic terrorists attacked them in a massacre described as the worst slaughter of Jews since the Holocaust. Meanwhile, liberal news media paints Israel as the antagonist that day and villainize their efforts to combat Hamas.

NewsBusters reported how 1,200 individuals were killed by Hamas that day and how the Islamic terrorists committed multiple war crimes and crimes against humanity, such as hostage-taking, killing those in custody, sexual violence and mutilating bodies among others.

In the same story, NewsBusters called out MSNBC, CNN, CBS and other liberal news and media outlets that went on to defend Hamas and went out of their way to avoid painting them as terrorists.

Levi Hazen, executive director of Life in Messiah, has produced an investigative documentary film

Persistent Citizenship: Turning Opposition to Antisemitism Into Democratic Action

by Dr. M. Anthony Harper, Edited by Orit Karny-Winters
Reprinted with permission, originally printed for PublicView.com.au September 20, 2026

A preview of Dr M. Anthony Harper's contribution to an upcoming Australia–United States book examining antisemitism, its consequences for democratic society and the actions needed to confront it.

Antisemitism is more than prejudice against one community. It warns about the health of democracy itself.

When Jewish people are subjected to collective blame, conspiracy theories, intimidation or exclusion, the principle of equal citizenship is weakened. If such behaviour is tolerated or dismissed, hatred can gradually become normalised—first in language, then within institutions and, eventually, through action.

Dr M. Anthony Harper's contribution to the forthcoming book argues that opposing antisemitism requires more than expressions of outrage after an incident. It demands what might be called persistent citizenship: the continuing willingness of ordinary people, community leaders and public institutions to recognise hatred, speak clearly about it and take responsible action.

This begins with an important distinction. Democratic societies must protect open debate, including criticism of governments and political movements. Criticism of the Israeli government is not automatically antisemitic. The line is crossed when political disagreement becomes hostility towards Jewish people, when Jews are held collectively responsible for events elsewhere, or when Jewish identity is used to justify exclusion, harassment or threats.

Recognising that line protects both Jewish communities and legitimate democratic debate.

Persistent citizenship is practical. It means documenting incidents accurately rather than allowing rumours to dominate. It means reporting credible threats, supporting people who have been targeted and expecting schools, workplaces, media organisations and public authorities to apply their rules consistently.

It also means contacting elected representatives, asking difficult questions and remaining engaged after public attention has moved on. Democratic values

Flight 1073 Appears to be New Twist on Terrorism: Co-pilot in the Cockpit

Parrish Alford October 2, 2026 American Family News, Reprinted with permission, AFN.net

No amount of airline security can overcome a bad guy in the cockpit.

And that's the most dangerous security trend for air travel, a retired Central Intelligence Agency (CIA) officer said on American Family Radio Thursday.

It happened Wednesday over Saudi Arabia, almost to the Jordan border, when FlyDubai Flight 1073, bound for Tel Aviv, was diverted to Saudi Arabia with more than 170 people aboard, mostly Israelis.

The Boeing 737 was cruising at 34,000 feet when the co-pilot allegedly attacked the captain, stabbing him with a knife.

The bleeding captain, now identified as Smith Machchhar, managed to open the cockpit door, and heroic passengers took over.

The co-pilot, whose name has not been released, is believed to be from Oman, according to The Jerusalem Post.

The investigation continues, including possible Iranian involvement.

The flying public places lives in the hands of pilots every time a commercial flight lifts off. It's a trust being violated at an alarming rate.

"If you look at, let's say the past 10 years or so, there have been at least six incidents involving death by pilot, where the pilot just took the plane down," Scott Uehlinger told show host Jenna Ellis.

"So, in other words, the trend is not toward people grabbing the airplane from behind the cockpit. It's people in the cockpit that are causing the problems," he warned.

Examples in the last 11 years include:

In 2015, Germanwings Flight 9525 — First Officer Andreas Lubitz locked the captain out of the cockpit while the Airbus A320 was flying from Barcelona to Düsseldorf. He then deliberately descended the aircraft into the French Alps, killing all 150 people aboard.

In 2014, Malaysia Airlines Flight 370 — MH370 disappeared while flying from Kuala Lumpur toward Beijing with 239 people aboard. Investigators established that the aircraft deviated dramatically from its planned route and eventually flew south into the Indian Ocean.

In 2022, China Eastern Flight MU5735 — This Boeing 737-800 suddenly went into an extraordinarily steep descent and crashed in southern China, killing all 132 people aboard.

In 2023, Horizon Air Flight 2059 — An off-duty Alaska Airlines pilot riding in the jump seat of a Horizon Air Embraer 175 allegedly attempted to shut down the aircraft's engines while it was in flight. The

"And I will bless them that bless thee, and curse him that curseth thee..."
- Genesis 12:3 (KJV)

We believe that the Jewish people have a right to live in their ancient land of Israel, and that the modern State of Israel is the fulfillment of this historic right.

We maintain that there is no excuse for acts of terrorism against Israel and that Israel has the same right as every other nation to defend her citizens from such violent attacks.

We pledge to stand with our brothers and sisters in Israel and to speak out on their behalf whenever and wherever necessary until the attacks stop and they are finally living in peace and security with their neighbors.

The Scriptures promise blessings upon those who love the nationa of Israel, and CUFI has prayerfully searched for a way to honor and bless those who have chosen to be part of this holy move of God.

Remembering 9-11

by M. Anthony Harper, Ph.D., IMCNews Editor
October 5, 2026

(BOISE, Id)—Remembering 9-11, I was at the World Trade Towers October 16, 1993. I was visiting New York City with a friend of mine Bob Bergen from Connecticut and he took the pictures of me on top of and in front of the World Trade Towers. There a was a previous Terrorist attack with a bombing in the basement parking garage of the North tower on February 26, 1993.

I was with my wife that fateful morning September 11, 2001 watching television when we were horrified to watch the planes fly into the two towers!

Please pray comfort and healing as well as compensation for all those that lost family and friends in this tragedy. I cry for all the victims and their families that day.

Front of the World Trade Towers, October 16, 1993

You say you will never forget where you were when you heard the news On September 11, 2001. Neither will I.

I was on the 110th floor in a smoke filled room with a man who called his wife to say 'Good-Bye.' I held his fingers steady as he dialed. I gave him the peace to say, 'Honey, I am not going to make it, but it is OK..I am ready to go.'

I was with his wife when he called as she fed breakfast to their children. I held her up as she tried to understand his words and as she realized he wasn't coming home that night.

I was in the stairwell of the 23rd floor when a woman cried out to Me for help. 'I have been knocking on the door of your heart for 50 years!' I said. 'Of course I will show you the way home - only believe in Me now.'

I was at the base of the building with the Priest ministering to the injured and devastated souls. I took him home to tend to his Flock in Heaven. He heard my voice and answered.

I was on all four of those planes, in every seat, with every prayer. I was with the crew as they were overtaken. I was in the very hearts of the believers there, comforting and assuring them that their faith has saved them.

I was in Texas, Virginia, California, Michigan, Afghanistan. I was standing next to you when you heard the terrible news. Did you sense Me?

I want you to know that I saw every face. I knew every name - though not all know Me. Some met Me for the first time on the 86th floor.

Some sought Me with their last breath. Some couldn't hear Me calling to them through the smoke and flames; 'Come to Me... this way... take my hand.' Some chose, for the final time, to ignore Me. But, I was there.

I did not place you in the Tower that day. You may not know why, but I do.. However, if you were there in that explosive moment in time, would you have reached for Me?

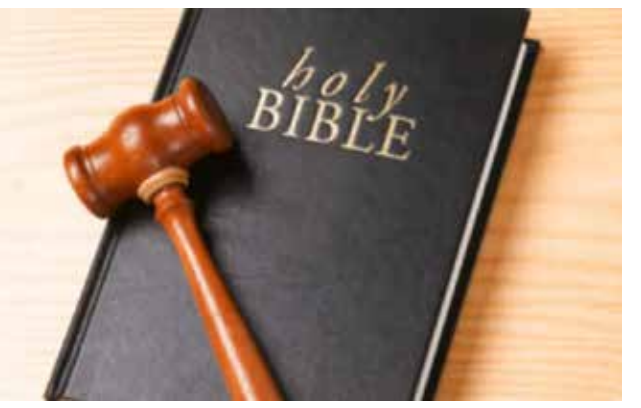

Sept. 11, 2001, was not the end of the journey for you . But someday your journey will end. And I will be there for you as well. Seek Me now while I may be found. Then, at any moment, you know you are 'ready to go.'

I will be in the stairwell of your final moments.

Case Regarding Religious Preschools and State Funding to be Heard by Supreme Court

Case regarding religious preschools and state funding to be heard by Supreme Court

The U.S. Supreme Court has officially kickedb off its new term, and religious liberty advocates are keeping a close watch on a high-stakes case coming out of Colorado.

At issue is a state preschool program that provides funding to families — unless they choose a religious school that adheres to traditional biblical teachings.

Nick Reaves, senior counsel at the Becket Fund for Religious Liberty, which is representing affected Catholic families, spoke to “Washington Watch” about the unique nature of the exclusion.

Nick Reaves

“The one distinction that Colorado points to is that the exclusion here is not explicit. There’s not a sign on the wall saying ‘No Catholic Schools,’ but that's really the effect of what they're doing,” Reaves says. “We don't think the

Combating Antisemitism - The Bonhoeffer Declaration

Press Release Source: bonhoeffer.org

This is what the Bonhoeffer Declaration web site calls for as quoted below:

“Raise Your Voice.

Declare your commitment to reject all forms of racism and antisemitism.

SIGN THE BONHOEFFER DECLARATION ONLINE AT THE FOLLOWING WEBSITE: bonhoeffer.org

Our Commitment to Act.

In the spirit of Dietrich Bonhoeffer, we, the undersigned, do hereby commit ourselves to combat antisemitism in our communities, nation, and the world. We believe that combating antisemitism requires more than pious phrases; it requires serious commitments.

Commitment to humility.

As we seek to confront antisemitism, we do so humbly, aware of our own past sins. Micah 6:8 charges us to “do justly, love mercy, and walk humbly.” We confess with sorrow that Jews have suffered at the hands of Christians throughout much of our shared history. We not only acknowledge these failures of the past, but we also commit ourselves to actions consistent with turning from these ways. We recognize the unique place of the Jewish people in the purposes of God and in sacred history. We absolutely and without equivocation reject all theological justifications for antisemitism and all anti-Jewish activities.

Commitment to stand against evil

The antisemitism that inspired the October 7th attack is not only Israel’s problem; it is our, the Church’s, problem. Paul the Apostle charged the church in Romans 12:14 to “weep with those who weep.” We stand shoulder-to-shoulder with our Jewish neighbors when they are attacked. We refuse to be “at ease” (Zech. 1:15) when Israel faces calamity. We recognize that while the pursuit of peace

Merry Christmas Blessings! Who is Jesus? Connecting to Him as The Jewish Messiah

by IMCNews Editor Rev. M. Anthony Harper, Ph.D.

(BOISE, Id)—The Old Testament records a number of pre-Bethlehem appearances of CHRIST JESUS (commonly referred to as Theophanies or Christophanies). A Theophany or Christophany is a visible appearance of God in the Old Testament period, often, but not always, in human form. The Pre-Incarnate CHRIST JESUS (physically visible and interactive appearances in the Old Testament as The LORD GOD, MELCHIZEDEK possibly , The LORD, GOD, or as an ANGEL OF THE LORD).

Every Christophany or Theophany in the Old Testament wherein God takes on human form foreshadows the incarnation, where God took the form of a man to live among us as Emmanuel,

"God with us" (KJV Matthew 1:18-25:

"18. Now the birth of Jesus Christ was on this wise: When as his mother Mary was espoused to Joseph, before they came together, she was found with child of the Holy Ghost. 19. Then Joseph her husband, being a just man, and not willing to make her a publick example, was minded to put her away privily. 20. But while he thought on these things, behold, the angel of the Lord appeared unto him in a dream, saying, Joseph, thou son of David, fear not to take unto thee Mary thy wife: for that which is conceived in her is of the Holy Ghost. 21. And she shall bring forth a son, and thou shalt call his name JESUS: for he shall save his people from their sins. 22. Now all this was done, that it might be fulfilled which was spoken of the Lord by the prophet, saying, 23. Behold, a virgin shall be with child, and shall bring forth a son, and they shall call his name Emmanuel, which being interpreted is, God with us. 24. Then Joseph being raised from sleep did as the angel of the Lord had bidden him, and took unto him his wife: 25. And knew her not till she had brought forth her firstborn son: and he called his name JESUS)."

If you would like to know JESUS CHRIST as your personal Savior from sin, pray the following prayer followed by studying The Holy Bible and apply it to your life and share The Gospel with others.

Here is a sample prayer offered by the American

Tract Society (www.atstracts.org):

To order a video about JESUS, call toll free 1-888-JESUS-36.

Pray this sincere prayer, meaning it with all your heart, and God will give you eternal life, right now!

"Dear Lord, I am a sinful person who needs You.

I turn from my sins and surrender my heart and life to You, right now. Save me dear God and make me Your child. Thank You for coming to Bethlehem, and for dying for me to pay for my sins. Help me to live for You all the rest of my life." Amen.

Recommendations below from www.wayofthemaster.com

Once you have repented of all sin (see Psalm51, 1John 1:9), don't doubt God's promises. Doubt produces fear. It is also a great insult to God--if I don't trust you, it means I think you are a liar.

Here's a recipe for success:

•Read your Bible every day without fail. Every day.

•Value the Word more important than your food (see Psalm One). •Obey what you read. •Develop a tender conscience. •Never doubt any of God's promises.

•Obey the Great Commission by sharing your faith story (see John 14:21). Check out The Way of The Master website where there are resources on how to share your faith.

When I was in junior high high school, I was angry, resentful. I was bullied. That was my life.

My parents were poor as church mice.

My dad was a pastor.

And I'd heard it all. I'd sat in church - three, four, five, six times a week all my life.

I got in high school and I rebelled. I got a bad drinking problem.

I got into drugs. They looked like they were having more fun than I was.

I turned my back on God. Walked away.

That was the most miserable time of my life.

Satan will always take you farther than you want to go. You give him an inch and he'll

Tried to kill me several times.

It's just the prayers of my mom and church ladies that kept me alive.

I had car wrecks.

I had overdose. All kinds of mess.

I joined the Navy and I thought I was going to get clean. Thought I could join the Navy and get clean. They're the biggest bunch of dope smokers and alcoholics you'd ever want to meet.

I struggled. When I went to boot camp and a guy gave me a little book. I threw it in my bag with all the rest of my stuff. I started going to the chapel.

And I started reading that Bible.

I laid in my bunk. We had a lot of time out at sea, a lot of quiet time, a lot of lonely time.

I started reading my Bible. And I realized that salvation wasn't something a one and done. It's a walk. It is.

It's a commitment to God. It's a personal relationship. Yeah, it is.

Full Freedom of Worship for the Jews at the Temple Mount

Press Release Submitted by MK Haskel's office October 21, 2026

(JERUSALEM, Israel)—Sharren Haskel: "If Jews cannot worship freely in the Jewish state, then the state is failing."

During her visit to the Temple Mount, MK Sharren Haskel called for full freedom of worship at the holiest site for the Jewish people and a clear commitment to protecting freedom of religion and worship.

Haskel said, "We have the right to live as free Jews in our homeland. The State of Israel must protect that right—especially on the Temple Mount, the holiest site for the Jewish people.

We demand that governments around the world confront antisemitism and protect the right of Jews to practice their faith openly, proudly and without fear.

Israel Likud MK Sharren Haskel joins me Monday May 8, 2017 at the Knesset government building in Jerusalem to talk about the response in Israel to my January 24, 2017 White House question aired in Jerusalem on the Hebrew Television Channel 20 exposing the Antisemitic Hamas connected U.N. agency UNRWA corruption. UNRWA stands for the United Nations Relief and Works Agency. UNRWA expert David Bedein of www.IsraelBehindTheNews.com tipped me off to UNRWA corruption back in 2016.

We must demand the same of ourselves.

For generations, our people prayed to return to Jerusalem. We have returned, and we have a responsibility to secure our future here. That responsibility includes the freedom to express our Jewish identity and practice our faith at our holiest site.

I am proud to stand here. I will continue fighting for the Temple Mount and for our right to live as free Jews in our own country."

VOTE NO ON PROPOSITION 1

PROTECT IDAHO'S PRO-LIFE LAWS

PROP ONE IS THE MOST EXTREME ABORTION INITIATIVE IN IDAHO HISTORY

Five Ways the Reproductive Freedom and Privacy Act [RFPA] is more extreme than pre-Roe v Wade laws:

1. Fetal Viability is generally accepted as the point in which a baby can survive outside the womb with medical support or ~23-24 weeks gestation. This Act would make 2nd Trimester abortions legal on face value, but could extend into the third trimester by redefining fetal viability to "significant likelihood" of survival without "extraordinary measures" two terms without definitions.

2. Person, in choosing the language "person" and not adult, the RFPA would undo or "control over" all previous established impediments to abortion access, including parental consent.

3. "A right to reproductive freedom and privacy … including, but not limited to" combined with "services related to the reproductive processes, functions, and systems" means this would actually open the door

To Divide Israel Is To Invite GOD's Judgment

By IMCNews Publisher and White House Correspondent Rev. Dr. Matthew Anthony Harper

October 21, 2026

(BOISE, Id)—This is a news article about people incurring GOD's judgment for dividing Israel that is based on the real facts stated in the Word of GOD [The Holy Bible] that I address shortly.

But first it's important to note here that former U.S. President Barrack Hussein Obama accused the Jewish people of stealing their land from the so called Palestinians who are Arabs instead during his October 13, 2026 speech in Belfast, Ireland. Now, his false accusations are disturbing because he represents many humans that have been "drinking the Kool-Aid."

In a Google search, the following results were given for the phrase "drinking the Kool-Aid:"

"The expression "drinking the Kool-Aid" means blindly accepting an idea, dogma, or leader's message without critical thinking or questioning. It often carries a negative connotation of extreme devotion, peer pressure, or falling for a potentially dangerous or foolish concept."

Obama reflects those protesters that chant without critical thinking "From the River to the Sea, Palestine will be free." Obama and those like him according to Joel 3:2 will incur the wrath of GOD for their mistreatment of the Jewish people.

The key scripture in the Holy Bible about GOD's anger towards those that remove the Jewish people from their ancestral land (an act of Antisemitism/ Jew hatred) and disobedience towards GOD is found in the Prophet Joel Chapter 3 verse 2 as follows:

"I will gather together all the [Gentile] nations [that were hostile to My people] And bring them down into the Valley of Jehoshaphat (the LORD has judged). And there I will deal with them and enter into judgment with them there For [their treatment of] My people, My inheritance, Israel, Whom they have scattered among the nations, And [because] they have encroached on My land and divided it up." Amplified Bible

It is important to note here that Israel's existence came through Abram who is later renamed Abraham

(Genesis 17:5) and passed on his covenant blessing to his son Isaac (Genesis 26) and with Isaac's son, Jacob (Genesis 28), who is later renamed Israel (Genesis 35:10).

The rise of Antisemitism is directly linked to the belief that Israel is an illegal occupier of their land that the so called Palestinians [Arabs] think belongs to them. To set the record straight, there is NO Palestine and never has been for that was a fabricated word by the Roman Emperor Hadrian and other Pagan leaders gone before him. The land was partitioned into the twelve tribes of Israel as recorded in the Jewish book of Joshua.

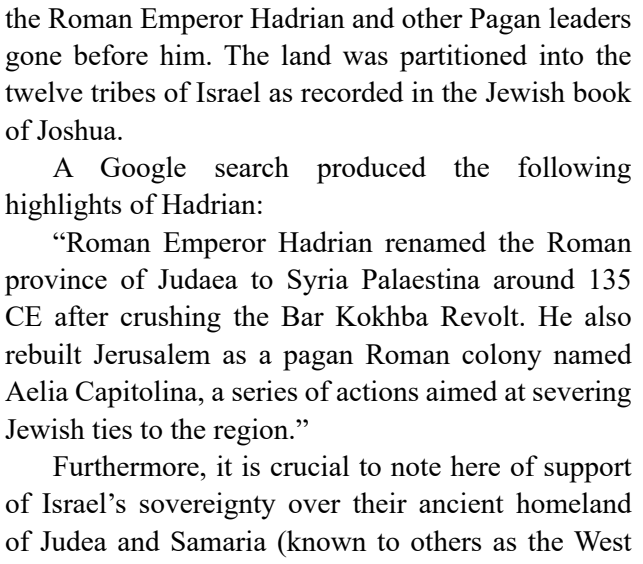

A Google search produced the following highlights of Hadrian:

"Roman Emperor Hadrian renamed the Roman province of Judaea to Syria Palaestina around 135 CE after crushing the Bar Kokhba Revolt. He also rebuilt Jerusalem as a pagan Roman colony named Aelia Capitolina, a series of actions aimed at severing Jewish ties to the region."

Furthermore, it is crucial to note here of support of Israel's sovereignty over their ancient homeland of Judea and Samaria (known to others as the West Bank). Christian leaders in the U.S. nationwide are calling upon President Trump to declare his support of sovereignty over Judea and Samaria in a letter dated September 28, 2025 you can read below:

In conclusion, we wait now for President Trump to make his bold stand declaring his support of Israel's sovereignty over their ancient homeland Judea and Samaria Israel as he did before in defending Israel's sovereignty over the Golan Heights.

Regarding Samaria, The Ark of The Covenant was an item the Hebrews [the Jews] had in their possession that contained the Ten Commandments inscribed on stone tablets by GOD given to Moses, Aaron's staff that budded with Almonds and Manna but most importantly of which GOD's unique presence resided with in the land of Samaria in Shiloh.

Standing WITH THE BIBLICAL HEART OF ISRAEL

September 28, 2025

President Donald J. Trump
The White House
1600 Pennsylvania Avenue, NW
Washington, DC 20500

Dear Mr. President,

On behalf of the undersigned Christians who love and pray for you daily, we write to express our profound gratitude for your historic and unwavering support for the Jewish state of Israel. Your leadership has strengthened not only the security of Israel but also the cause of freedom and truth throughout the world. From moving the U.S. Embassy to Jerusalem, to recognizing the Golan Heights, to standing against those who seek to delegitimize Israel, you have made history and honored the God who gave His promise to Abraham and his descendants.

We are deeply concerned, however, that there are voices—even among allies—who urge policies that would weaken Israel by forcing concessions at the very heart of its existence. Restricting or discouraging Israel's right to exercise sovereignty over the biblical heartland—Judea and Samaria—will not bring peace; it will only prolong conflict and increase threats, not only to the Jewish people but also to Palestinians who genuinely desire peace.

Mr. President, we urge you to resist the pressure of those who, through the "death of a thousand cuts," would dismantle Israel's claim to the land promised by God in Scripture and affirmed by history. America must not be a party to undermining what God has established and will continue to establish.

Instead, we call upon you to reaffirm the biblical and historical truth: Judea and Samaria are not only Israel's history, they are Israel's identity. Sovereignty over this land is Israel's God-given right, and for the sake of justice and lasting peace, it must be recognized.

As Christians who stand firmly with the Jewish people, we ask you to continue your courageous leadership by acknowledging Israel's right to exercise sovereignty over Judea and Samaria. Such a step would not only align with biblical truth, but it would also advance peace by grounding policy in reality rather than illusion.

Mr. President, your leadership at this critical moment matters. History will remember you as the leader who chose to stand with God's covenant and with His people, Israel.

With gratitude and prayer,

WAKE UP AMERICA! Son of Hamas, Mosab Hassan Yousef, "The Green Prince," Warns America About Radical Islam

Former devout Muslim and Son of Hamas (AKA The Green Prince) Masab Hassan Yousef is interviewed by Jonah Platt of Being Jewish in Los Angeles August 2026 at the Jewish American Summit to warn America and the West of the dangers of Islam. Yousef's message to Muslims was to go back to their home countries because Islam is not compatible with America. That interview was later released on YouTube September 29, 2026.

Here is a following Google search description about Mosab Hassan Yousef:

"Mosab Hassan Yousef is the eldest son of Sheikh Hassan Yousef, one of the co-founders of Hamas.

Yousef's autobiographical book (Son of Hamas) was published in 2010, A Gripping Account of Terror, Betrayal, Political Intrigue, and Unthinkable Choices. The book details his upbringing inside Hamas, his arrest and torture by Israeli intelligence, his subsequent work as a high-level informant/spy (codenamed "The Green Prince") for Israel's Shin Bet from 1997 to 2007, and his conversion to Christianity.

Yousef's book was adapted into a 2014 award-winning documentary film titled The Green Prince, directed by Nadav Schirman, which focuses on his relationship with his Shin Bet handler, Gonen ben Yitzhak."

Celebrating Thankgiving in America

By David Barton – https://wallbuilders.com/celebrating-thanksgiving-america/

The tradition introduced by European Americans of Thanksgiving as a time to focus on God and His blessings dates back well over four centuries in America. For example, such thanksgivings occurred in 1541 at Palo Duro Canyon, Texas with Coronado and 1,500 of his men; in 1564 at St. Augustine, Florida with French Huguenot (Protestant) colonists; in 1598 at El Paso, Texas with Juan de Oñate and his expedition; in 1607 at Cape Henry, Virginia with the landing of the Jamestown settlers; in 1619 at Berkeley Plantation, Virginia; (and many other such celebrations). But it is primarily from the Pilgrim's Thanksgiving celebration of 1621 that we derive the current tradition of Thanksgiving Day.

The Pilgrims set sail for America on September 6, 1620, and for two months braved the harsh elements of a storm-tossed sea. Upon disembarking at Plymouth Rock, they held a prayer service and then hastily began building shelters; however, unprepared for such a harsh New England winter, nearly half of them died before spring. Emerging from that grueling winter, the Pilgrims were surprised when an Indian named Samoset approached them and greeted them in their own language, explaining to them that he had learned English from fishermen and traders. A week later, Samoset returned with a friend named Squanto, who lived with the Pilgrims and accepted their Christian faith. Squanto taught the Pilgrims much about how to live in the New World, and he and Samoset helped forge a long-lasting peace treaty between the Pilgrims and the Wampanoag Indians. Pilgrim Governor William Bradford described Squanto as "a special instrument sent of God for [our] good . . . and never left [us] till he died."

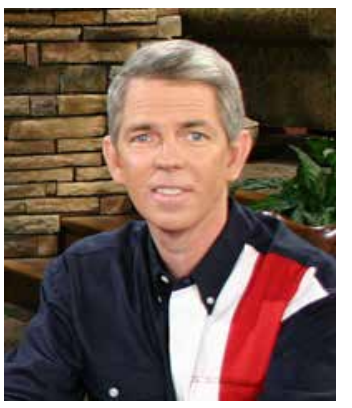

That summer, the Pilgrims, still persevering in prayer and assisted by helpful Indians, reaped a bountiful harvest. As Pilgrim Edward Winslow (later to become the Governor) affirmed, "God be praised, we had a good increase of corn"; "by the goodness of God, we are far from want." The grateful Pilgrims therefore declared a three-day feast in December 1621 to thank God and to celebrate with their Indian friends – America's first Thanksgiving Festival. Ninety Wampanoag Indians joined the fifty Pilgrims for three days of feasting (which included shellfish, lobsters, turkey, corn bread, berries, deer, and other foods), of play (the young Pilgrim and Wampanoag men engaged in races, wrestling matches, and athletic events), and of prayer. This celebration and its accompanying activities were the origin of the holiday that Americans now celebrate each November.

However, while the Pilgrims enjoyed times of prosperity for which they thanked God, they also suffered extreme hardships. In fact, in 1623 they experienced an extended and prolonged drought. Knowing that without a change in the weather there would be no harvest and the winter would be filled with death and starvation, Governor Bradford called the Pilgrims to a time of prayer and fasting to seek God's direct intervention. Significantly, shortly after that time of prayer – and to the great amazement of the Indians who witnessed the scene – clouds appeared in the sky and a gentle and steady rain began to fall. As Governor Bradford explained:

It came without either wind or thunder or any violence, and by degrees in abundance, as that ye earth was thoroughly wet and soaked therewith, which did so apparently revive and quicken ye decayed corn and other fruits as was wonderful to see, and made ye Indians astonished to behold; and afterwards the Lord sent them such seasonable showers, with interchange of fair warm weather as, through His blessing, caused a fruitful and liberal harvest, to their no small comfort and rejoicing.

The drought had been broken; the fall therefore produced an abundant harvest; there was cause for another thanksgiving. The Pilgrim practice of designating an official time of Thanksgiving spread into neighboring colonies and became an annual tradition. And just as those neighboring colonies followed the Pilgrims' example of calling for days of thanksgiving, so, too, did they adopt their practice of calling for a time of prayer and fasting. The New England Colonies therefore developed a practice of calling for a day of prayer and fasting in the spring, and a day of prayer and thanksgiving in the fall.

The Thanksgiving celebrations so common throughout New England did not begin to spread southward until the American Revolution, when Congress issued eight separate national Thanksgiving Proclamations. (Congress also issued seven separate proclamations for times of fasting and prayer, for a total of 15 official prayer proclamations during the American Revolution.)

America's first national Thanksgiving occurred in 1789 with the commencement of the federal government.

As you celebrate Thanksgiving this year, remember to retain the original gratefulness to God that has always been the spirit of this – the oldest of all American holidays. For the complete article of David Barton on Celebrating Thanksgiving, click on the following link:

gentlemen is one of how Islam is incompatible with our U.S. Constitution, thus causing a great threat to the freedoms Americans cherish.

Read about how The Qur'An and how it differs dramatically from our U.S. Constitution below from the book titled 'What Every American Needs to Know About the Qur'an-A History of Islam & the United States by William J. Federer, Used by Permission https://www.amazon.com/Every-American-Needs-about-Quran/dp/0977808556/

William Federer references in his book the following comment by Muslim U.S. President Barack Hussein Obama made in Cairo, Egypt, June 4, 2009 "When the first Muslim American [Keith Ellison of Minnesota] was recently elected to Congress, he took the oath to defend our Constitution using the Holy Qur'an," Federer brings up the key question all of us should consider carefully "The dilemma is, can one swear to defend the Constitution upon a book which seeks to replace it?"

William Federer continues his important questions and issues for us to seriously ponder below regarding the conflicts between what is said in the Qur'An in contrast with our U.S. Constitution:

"The First Amendment to the U.S. Constitution states that Congress shall make no law prohibiting the "free exercise" of religion, yet Mohammed said "Whoever changes his Islamic religion, kill him." (Hadith Sahih al-Bukhari, Vol. 9, Book 84, No. 57). Islamic law relegates non-Muslims to "dhimmi" status, where they are not to propagate their customs amongst Muslims and cannot display a Cross, Christmas decorations, or a Star of David.

The First Amendment states Congress shall not abridge "the freedom of speech," yet Islamic law enforces dhimmi status on non-Muslims, prohibiting them from observing their religious practices publicly, raising their voices during prayer, ringing church bells or say anything considered 'insulting to Islam.'

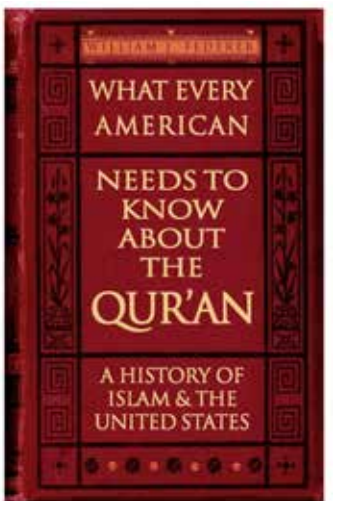

The First Amendment states Congress cannot take away "the right of the people to peaceably assemble," yet Islamic law states non-Muslims cannot repair places of worship or build new ones, they must allow Muslims to participate in their private meetings, they cannot bring their dead near the graveyards of Muslims or mourn their dead loudly.

The First Amendment states Congress cannot take away the right of the people "to petition the Government for a redress of grievances," yet Islamic law states non-Muslims are not to harbor any hostility towards the Islamic state or give comfort to those who disagree with Islamic government.

The 2nd Amendment states "the right of the people to keep and bear arms shall not be infringed," yet Islamic law states non-Muslims cannot possess arms, swords or weapons of any kind.

The 3rd Amendment states one cannot be forced to "quarter" someone in their house, yet Islamic law states non-Muslims must entertain and feed for three days any Muslim who wants to stay in their home, and for a longer period if the Muslim falls ill, and they cannot prevent Muslim travelers from staying in their places of worship.

The 4th Amendment guarantees "the right of the people to be secure in their persons, houses, papers, and effects against unreasonable searches and seizures," yet Islamic law states if a non-Muslim rides on a horse with a saddle and bridle, the horse can be taken away.

The 5th Amendment states that "no person shall be held to answer for a capital or otherwise infamous crime without due process of law," yet Mohammed said "No Muslim should be killed for killing a Kafir (infidel)." (Hadith Sahih al-Bukhari, Vol. 9, No. 50).

The 6th Amendment guarantees a "public trial by an impartial jury" and the 7th Amendment states "the right of trial by jury shall be preserved," yet Islamic law does not give non-Muslims equal legal standing with Muslims, even prohibiting them from testifying in court against Muslims.

The 8th Amendment states there shall be no "cruel and unusual punishments inflicted," yet the Qur'an states: Cut off the hands of thieves, whether they are male or female, as punishment for what they have done—a deterrent from Allah. (Sura 5:38) A woman who has been raped is also punished "with a hundred stripes." (Sura 24:2)

The 13th Amendment states there shall be no "slavery or involuntary servitude," yet the Qur'an accommodates slavery as Mohammed owned slaves.

The 14th Amendment guarantees citizens "equal protection of the laws," yet the Qur'an does not consider non-Muslims equal to Muslims.

The 15th Amendment guarantees "the right of the citizens ... to vote shall not be denied ... on account of race, color, or previous condition of servitude," yet strict interpretation of Islamic law does not allow voting, as democracy is considered people setting themselves in the place of Allah by making the laws.

The 16th Amendment has some similarities with Islamic law, as "Congress shall have the power to lay and collect taxes on incomes from whatever source derived." Mohammed said "Fight those who believe not in Allah ... until they pay the jizya [tax] with willing submission, and feel themselves subdued." (Sura 9:29)

The 19th Amendment allows women to vote, yet in strict Islamic countries women cannot vote.

The 21st Amendment allows for the sale of liquor, yet Islamic law states non-Muslims are not to sell or drink wine and liquor openly.

Supreme Court Justice Robert Jackson wrote in the foreword of the book Law in the Middle East (1955): "Islamic law offers the American lawyer a study in dramatic contrasts. Even casual acquaintance and superficial knowledge ... reveal that its striking features relative to our law are notlikenesses but inconsistencies, not similarities but contrarieties. In its source, its scope and its sanctions, the law of the Middle East [Islamic law] is the antithesis of Western law."

Here is my September 17, 2026 report about talking with President Trump's press staff about the incompatibility of Islam and the Islamic book 'The Quran' with the U.S. Constitution and President Trump's pastor friend Lorenzo Sewell of 180 Church in Detroit, Michigan confrontation of the Dearborn, Michigan City Council's support of Islam and Sharia law.

Here below is what President Trump's pastor friend Lorenzo Sewell of 180 Church in Detroit, Michigan had to say in his confrontation of the Dearborn, Michigan City Council and their support of Islam and Sharia law.

"I have the honor and the privilege of being a senior pastor of 180 Church where President Donald Trump came for his birthday weekend. And it was there that I had an opportunity to pray over the president. And it was at that moment that he told me I would pray at the inauguration and I would be able to preach at the rededication.

The reason why I'm here today is because Dearborn, in all of your prosperity and everything that you've done, the spirit of Hubbard is still in this city. The spirit of racism still dwells in this city. This is a city that has prospered with your mosques and your call to prayer, but yet it's on the back of my people. It's on the back of Black people that we have funded everything you do. You look down on us. Your police enact injustice on us.

And when Jake Lang talked about Jesus, he was assaulted because you are not up under American law. You are up under Sharia law. That is the reason why you have made no arrests. You laugh. You are three generations of racism in this very city. You know it. You have seen what has happened in this city.

We are not a nation of Muslims. We are a nation of Christians. We are one nation under God, indivisible, the God of the Bible, the God of the Lord Jesus Christ. That's the God in whom we serve. I want you to prove to me we're not up under Sharia law. Will you denounce Councilman or Ali? Will you denounce Sharia law? No, they won't.

America, we have lost this city. This is a city that is no longer up under American laws. We are up under Sharia law and we will not have it anymore. Enough is enough. Amen."

October is Clergy Appreciation Month

Source: Focus on the Family

Clergy Appreciation Month is a special time that congregations set aside each year to honor their pastors and pastoral families for the hard work, sacrificial dedication and multiple blessings provided by these special people. It is typically scheduled in October, but can be held at any time that is convenient for the church and the community. It is also important to remember that appreciation, affirmation and prayer support of our spiritual leaders is appropriate throughout the entire year.

The nature of the service provided by pastors and their families is unique. God has entrusted to them one of the most precious of assignments — the spiritual well-being of His flock. When a pastor becomes ineffective, the very souls of his or her parishioners are endangered. When eternity is in the balance, we should all be concerned.

Pastors and their families live under incredible pressures. Their lives are played out in a fishbowl, with the entire congregation and community watching their every move. They are expected to have ideal families, to be perfect people, to always be available, to never be down and to have all the answers we need to keep our own lives stable and moving forward. Those are unrealistic expectations to place on anyone, yet most of us are disappointed when a pastor becomes overwhelmed, seems depressed, lets us down or completely burns out.

That's why God has instructed us to recognize His servants.

"The elders who direct the affairs of the church well are worthy of double honor, especially those whose work is preaching and teaching" (1 Timothy 5:17).

The good news is that we can make a difference! Clergy Appreciation Month is one way we can counter the negative erosion in the lives of our spiritual leaders with the positive affirmation they need.

Don't your pastors and their families deserve this kind of recognition? Do something about it today!

Help your pastors and their families feel appreciated

1. Figure out what you can do personally to recognize and honor these leaders. A simple card, an invitation to lunch, a promise to pray for them or an offer to babysit, wash a car or mow a lawn make wonderful statements.
2. Share the concept of CAM with others in your congregation and challenge them to join you in some kind of formal planning. You might consider a special service of affirmation, a potluck event or planting a tree in their honor. The sky is the limit!

Guide to Clergy Appreciation Month

Our Clergy Appreciation Month Planning Guide is available online with complete step-by-step instructions and pages of exciting celebration suggestions. It also includes long-term ideas for the proper care of your pastors and their families. This complimentary guide can be reviewed, downloaded or printed immediately.

There is also a Spanish version of the planning guide for Spanish-speaking congregations and individuals. (También hay disponible una versión gratis de la guía de planificación para iglesias y personas de habla hispana.)

A Brief History of Clergy Appreciation Month

We believe that the concept of clergy appreciation started with the Apostle Paul as he was establishing the first Christian churches. In 1 Timothy, he wrote, "The elders who direct the affairs of the church well are worthy of double honor, especially those whose work is preaching and teaching" (1 Tim. 5:17). And, in 1 Thessalonians, he said, "Respect those who work hard among you, who are over you in the Lord and who admonish you. Hold them in the highest regard in love because of their work" (1 Thess. 5:12-13).

Accordingly, over the centuries, decades and years, pastors have been recognized and honored, either formally or informally, by many denominations and local churches at various times of the year. It has been a long-standing practice.

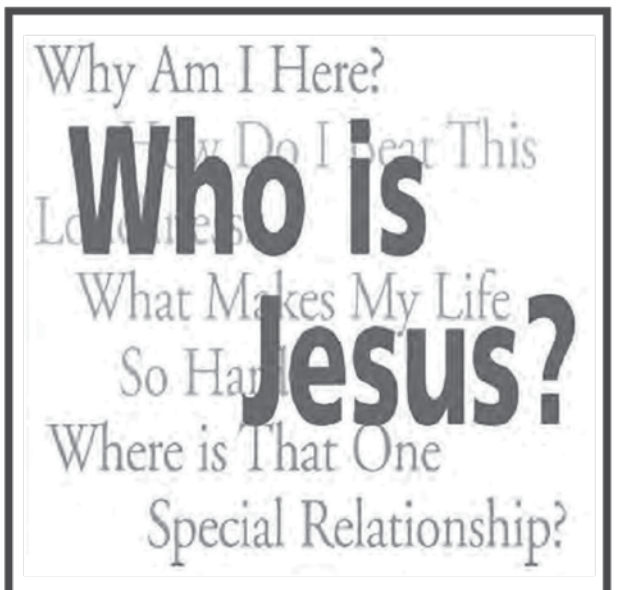

Focus on the Family named and began emphasizing Clergy Appreciation Month in 1994, reminding congregations that it was biblical and proper to honor their pastoral staffs and pastoral families throughout the year, but suggesting that they set aside the month of October for a special tangible tribute. For those churches that preferred a single weekend, we recommended the second weekend of the month. However, honoring a church's entire pastoral staff and their families can be done at any time — and, in fact, should become a normal part of a church's ongoing care of these special families throughout the entire year.

Our goal is that every pastor (including staff ministers) and his or her family would feel appreciated by those they serve. To assist congregations in this process, we have developed a planning guide (in both English and Spanish) intended to facilitate and publicize a CAM celebration. We also attempt to promote the concept ourselves each year through radio, newspapers, magazines and any other means at our disposal.

Over the years, we have been privileged to work in partnership with many publishers, bookstore chains, radio networks, news syndicates, musicians, denominations and other church groups, and have made many friends. Many of these fine organizations promote some form of clergy appreciation on their own. We think this is great! We feel that the fact that no one "owns" the idea of honoring pastors gives the campaign special inertia of its own — or from God.

JESUS is GOD the SON (CREATOR of the Universe and all Life!)

Hebrews 1:2-3 NIV
2 ...in these last days he has spoken to us by his Son, whom he appointed heir of all things, and through whom he made the universe.
3 The Son is the radiance of God's glory and the exact representation of his being, sustaining all things by his powerful word.
Hebrews 3:3-4 NIV
3. Jesus has been found worthy of greater honor than Moses, just as the builder of a house has greater honor than the house itself.
4. For every house is built by someone, but God is the builder of everything.

THE SAVIOR (GOD in human form) born of the Virgin Mary

Matthew 1:23 NIV
"The virgin will be with child and will give birth to a son, and they will call him Immanuel" - which means, "God with us."
Isaiah 9:6 NIV
"For to us a child is born, to us a son is given, and the government will be on his shoulders. And he will be called Wonderful Counselor, Mighty God, Everlasting Father, Prince of Peace."
John 8;23-24 NIV
23. But he continued, "You are from below; I am from above. You are of this world; I am not of this world. 24. I told you that you would die in your sins; if you do not believe that I am [the one I claim to be], you will indeed die in your sins."
John 14:6 NIV
Jesus answered, "I am the way and the truth and the life. No one comes to the Father except through me."

No other person can save you or give you hope and eternal life.

How to know JESUS as your personal Savior:

If you would like to know JESUS as your personal Savior from sin, pray the following prayer followed by studying The Holy Bible and get involved with a local Christian church.

Pray this sincere prayer, meaning it with all your heart, and God will give you eternal life, right now!

"Dear Lord, I am a sinful person who needs You. I turn from my sins and surrender my heart and life to You, right now. Save me dear God and make me Your child. thank You for coming to Bethlehem, and for dying for me to pay for my sins. Help me to live for You all the rest of my life." Amen.

If you have accepted JESUS as your personal SAVIOR from sin, obey Him and get involved with a good Bible-believing church, study the Bible daily, seek Him with all your heart daily, and share The Gospel with all those around you. We must be doers of the word, nor hearers only.

Court Hearing Today Reveals Deficiencies in BSU Abortion Study Methodology, Underlying Data

By Edward Clark October 23, 2026

(BOISE, Id)—Court hearing today reveals deficiencies in BSU abortion study methodology, underlying data

Ada County Judge Nancy A. Baskin today heard arguments in a lawsuit filed by Idaho Family Policy Center against Boise State University for failing to provide public records related to a highly contested abortion study. The judge ordered Boise State to submit documents to the court for review, and stated she will issue a written ruling at a later time.

IFPC had requested data, documents, and communications related to the study, which claims that OB/GYNs are leaving Idaho because of our pro-life laws. Some details from the study were published in a research letter in JAMA Network Open. That research letter states that the BSU Institutional Review Board approved the study.

BSU admitted in the hearing today that researchers did not maintain any records pertaining to how they determined whether doctors had left the state and were no longer practicing. Judge Baskin responded by noting that the lack of records "seems like an unusual protocol for anything of a scientific nature."

According to the briefing filed by Boise State University, university officials determined whether they would comply with the public records request depending on the "practical impact" of releasing the documents. BSU's briefing indicates that many documents were never disclosed.

The briefing also indicates that the limited data used in the JAMA research letter and provided to IFPC was only a preliminary dataset—not even final data. The new filings also reveal that the various researchers involved in the study had separate versions of the study's data and that not all researchers had access to the final dataset. These new revelations cast additional doubt on the accuracy of the findings that were published in the JAMA research letter.

IFPC has previously highlighted other concerns about the data set used by the researchers—including data irregularities such as negative numbers of total doctors listed for some Idaho counties.

A statement from Blaine Conzatti, president of Idaho Family Policy Center:

"We're now eleven days from the November election, and Prop 1 organizers and their boosters in the media are still using this flawed JAMA study to push the false narrative that OBGYNs are leaving our state because of our pro-life laws.

The information revealed today not only illustrates the recklessness with which the JAMA study was conducted, but also what seems to be a coordinated attempt to conceal the truth from the public.

Idaho voters deserve to know the truth about whether doctors are actually leaving our state—and we hope that all relevant data, documents, and communications are released soon."

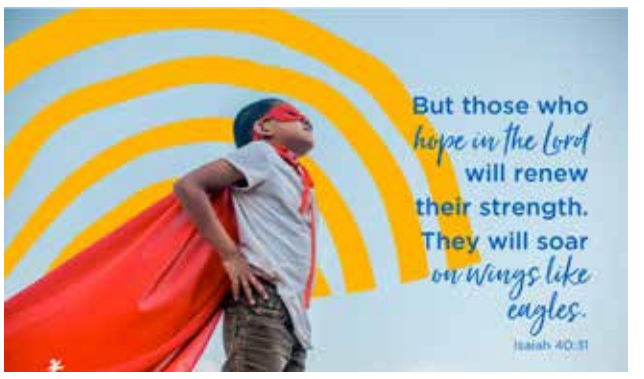

A statement from Isaac Helland, attorney at the IFPC Legal Center handling the case:

"Boise State University has an unfortunate track record of avoiding public records requests. A free people should not tolerate a government that keeps its workings secret from its citizens, and we intend to hold them accountable for hiding this information from the public."

Combating Antisemitism - The Bonhoeffer Declaration

is paramount, there are circumstances where the use of force may be justified to protect the innocent and uphold justice. On those occasions, we pray that evil will be eradicated and peace restored.

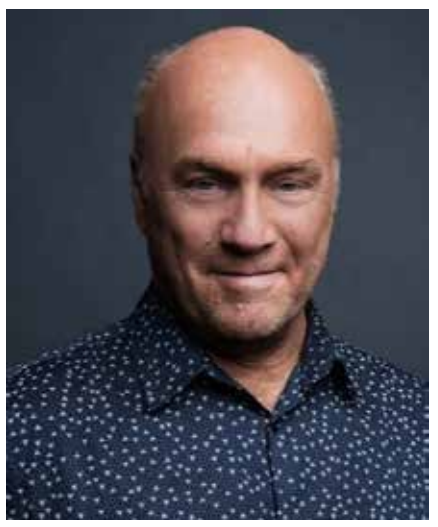

"Join these Voices

Anne Graham Lotz, Founder, AnGeL Ministries, Raleigh, NC

Tony Perkins, President, Family Research Council. Washington, DC

Greg Laurie, Senior Pastor of Harvest Christian Fellowship. Riverside, CA

Commitment to pray

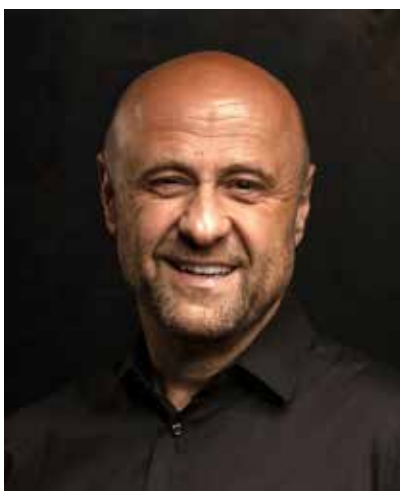

In obedience to Psalm 122:6, we will regularly and consistently "pray for the peace of Jerusalem" and the prosperity of those who love her. We will pray for the victims of antisemitic violence and for those who suffer the pain and peril resulting from terrorist acts. We will pray that every plan for the destruction of the Jewish people and the Jewish State comes to nothing. In the Spirit of our Lord, we will follow the scriptural admonition to pray for the salvation of those who themselves are agents of terror.

Commitment to speak out

We will not be silent as the German pastors were in the 1930s. We will loudly and publicly speak up when acts of antisemitism take place in our communities. That includes speaking to our congregations, city councils, school boards, and elected officials. It includes using our public voice to be advocates for our Jewish friends. We will not allow hate speech go unchallenged. In the tradition of the Hebrew prophets, we will call for political, civic, and business leaders to "let justice roll on like a river" (Amos 5:24).

Joni Lamb, co-Founder, Executive Producer of Daystar Television Network

Bishop Robert Stearns, Founder, Eagles' Wings Ministries

Mike Huckabee, former Governor of Arkansas

Commitment td educate

We are responsible for the education of ourselves and the next generation about the threat of antisemitism. Just as God commanded Israel to remember and memorialize the past, we commit to make Biblical and historical education a pillar in our communities. We ensure that once the last of the Holocaust survivors die, the memory of that dark time does not die with them. We will learn from the past and change the future.

Commitment to civil discourse and bridge building.

Scripture exhorts us, "If it is possible, as far as depends on you, live at peace with everyone" (Romans 12:18). This includes a commitment to civil discourse around painful, complex issues. We will challenge hate mongers and those who traffic in fear and bigotry on any side of these issues, doing everything we can to be peacemakers. Bridges of understanding between diverse communities can and will be built.

Commitment to community advocacy.

We commit to incorporate these principles into our local churches and spheres of influence, advocating for the security and wellbeing of Israel, as well as a "future and a hope" for the [Arab population]. Far too often, we have left vocal advocacy to individual efforts.

Combating Antisemitism - The Bonhoeffer Declaration

Just as Bonhoeffer sought to rouse and unify the Church, we commit to engagement with these principles as a Christian community. As local churches, we will seek strategic partnerships with organizations that are combating antisemitism and promoting Judeo-Christian values.

We resolve to live the aforementioned commitments by the grace of God. We understand that to do so may require great sacrifice of ourselves, just as it did Dietrich Bonhoeffer, who ultimately paid with his life. We soberly consider Psalm 15:4 which tells us that God honors those who "keep an oath even when it hurts, and does not change their mind." To that end, we sign this Bonhoeffer Declaration."

Where We've Been

1933 saw the rise of Adolf Hitler and the Nazi party in Germany. They were both a symptom of, and a catalyst for, the evil called antisemitism. One German pastor, Dietrich Bonhoeffer, saw it for what it was, and resisted at extreme personal risk, rousing and mobilizing the church to stand against the demonic virus.

"The responsibility of the church is not just to bandage the victims under the wheel, but to stop the wheel itself."

– DIETRICH BONHOEFFER

Few listened.

In fact, out of 18,000 pastors in Germany at the time, only 3,000 officially stood with Bonhoeffer.

Fewer raised their voice.

Largely, the Church was silent."

Where We Are.

Right now is our Bonhoeffer moment.

On October 7, 2023, Hamas terrorists murdered more than 1,200 people on Israeli soil, including dozens of children, and kidnapped more than 240 people. Innocent men, women, and children were tortured, raped, and killed in the most barbaric ways imaginable.

October 7th was the deadliest for Jews since the Holocaust.

And yet, rather than rallying the world to stand with and for the Jewish people, October 7 uncovered the antisemitism latent in our universities, government, and culture. Protests across the nation and world have condemned Israel rather than Hamas, blaming Jews for the violence against them. Just as in Nazi Germany, Jews feel unsafe in our cities and at times, even hide their Jewish identity to protect themselves.

The Christian community must never actively or passively support any racist or bigoted ideology.

Along with this commitment to stand against every form of racism, Christians bear a unique responsibility to combat the most ancient and pervasive form of racism, namely antisemitism.

Christians bear this unique responsibility for two reasons.

First, we owe our Christian heritage to the Jewish people. Throughout the centuries, they have faithfully stewarded God's word to the patriarchs of the faith. As Romans 9:4–5 says, "To [the Jewish people] belong the adoption, the glory, the covenants, the giving of the law, the service of God, and the promises; of whom are the fathers and from whom, according to the flesh, Christ came . . . " Because of all this, we owe the Jewish people, in the words of Jack Hayford, a "debt of gratitude."

Second, the Church has often been complicit and, at times, an active agent in the propagation of racism through antisemitic theology and rhetoric. The most extensive genocide in history, the Holocaust, occurred in the cradle of Protest Christianity, namely, Germany, the birthplace of the Protestant Reformation. This shameful past requires Christians to humbly yet boldly work to eradicate antisemitism in our world.

The simultaneous gratitude and repentance we feel toward the Jews galvanizes our commitment to combat antisemitism. This is an expression of the Scripture's call to fight hate, and we accept this responsibility with penitent hearts, inspired by the life of Dietrich Bonhoeffer.

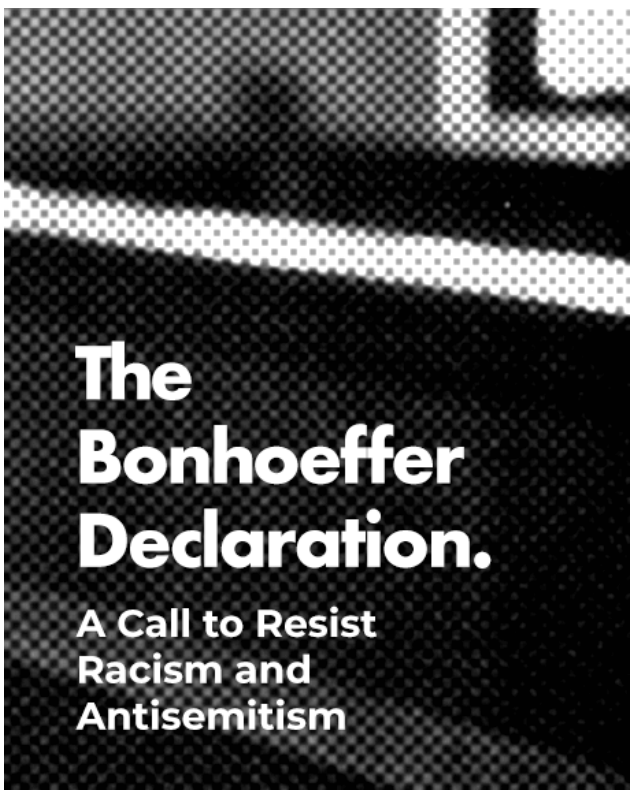

Just as in Bonhoeffer's era, the Church is tempted to be silent when hate and antisemitism raise their head.

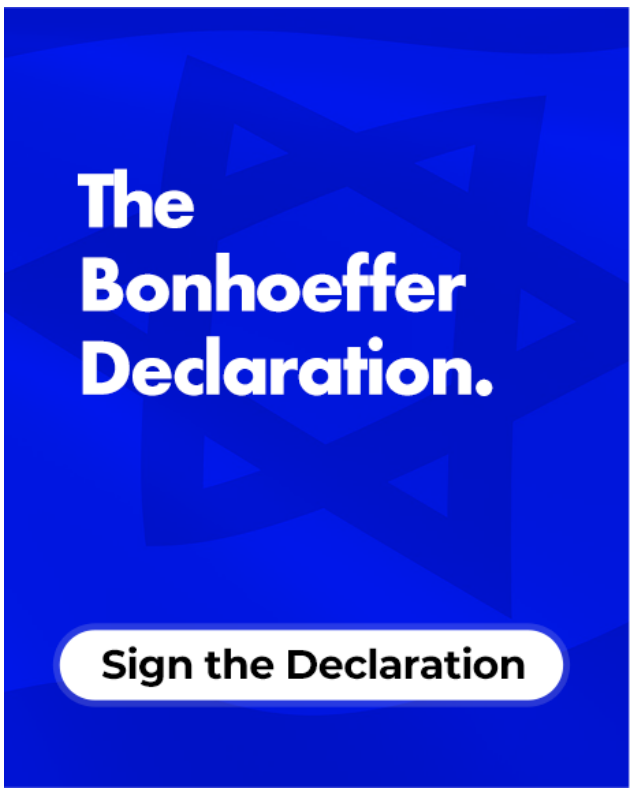

This silence is unacceptable. It is immoral and unbiblical. It is anti-Jesus and anti-Christ. We cannot sit quietly and leave unchallenged the existential threat Israel faces on its borders and the antisemitism Jews face around the world.

Heaven and History will judge our response.

Flight 1073 Appears to be New Twist on Terrorism: Co-pilot in the Cockpit

operating pilots were able to regain control, and the aircraft landed safely. The off-duty pilot subsequently told authorities that he thought he was dreaming and had taken psychedelic mushrooms approximately 48 hours earlier.

In 2025, Air India Flight 171 — India's Aircraft Accident Investigation Bureau (AAIB) released a preliminary report in July 2025. It found that, within seconds of takeoff, both engine fuel-control switches moved from RUN to CUTOFF. That cut fuel to both engines and resulted in the aircraft losing thrust at an extremely low altitude. The cockpit voice recorder also captured one pilot asking the other essentially why he had cut off the fuel. The other pilot responded that he had not done so. The preliminary report did not identify which pilot moved the switches or why they moved.

Divine intervention?

In the Flydubai case, several actions played out within seconds that saved lives.

Describing the scene, Uehlinger started with the "incredibly brave" actions of the pilot.

"In the midst of being attacked and cut up and stuff, he opened the cockpit door. After 9-11, they reinforced the cockpit doors. So, in other words, if he hadn't opened that door, that plane would be a smoking crater in the ground because the passengers would not have been able to open the door, no matter what," he said.

The fact that the plane itself remained intact is perplexing given simply physics, said Uehlinger, noting comments from several engineers.

"That Airframes 737 exceeded 650 knots in its 17,000-foot descent, which must have been an angle like careening into the ground. It's a miracle on that alone that the airframe did not rip itself apart," Uehlinger said.

The presence of off-duty pilots on the flight was another key to a successful landing.

Scott Uehlinger

The two additional pilots were on board, not necessarily as a security measure but likely en route to another destination to continue a work schedule. If so, it's a practice common among airlines.

"Really, this was the hand of God intervening because this was truly miraculous. We look at the engineering involved and the presence of mind of the pilot, et cetera. So, we really have cause to thank God that innocent people were not killed," Uehlinger said.

Terrorists take another look

The post-9/11 day of threats emanating from inside the cockpit likely show terrorists improvising after the onset of enhanced airline security.

"It very well could be the mindset of the terrorists understanding that, 'Okay, now we cannot get into the cockpit from outside. So, what we need to do is recruit people to either go into flight training or recruit people already in flight training, because we need to get inside the cockpit," Uehlinger said.

The bad guys' possible strategy of focusing on pilots has gotten an unexpected boost by relaxed training efforts inside the industry.

The amount of experience required to fly some of the biggest planes has been significantly reduced due to a shortage of pilots and co-pilots, Uehlinger said.

"The amount of flight hours that a co-pilot of a large aircraft is required to fly before they're in a large aircraft is one-fifth of what it used to be. In the old days, you used to have a co-pilot, I don't know, 500 hours in an aircraft. Now it is not uncommon to have a co-pilot who has 75 hours (of experience)."

Media airs distrust of Israel after Flight 1073 'altercation' - Steve Jordahl, AFN.net

Reacting to a suspected terrorist attack on an airliner, the liberal news media bent over backyards to play dumb and, worse, to blame the Jews.

Flight 1073 was over Saudia Arabia when the co-pilot, now identified as an Omani national, stabbed the pilot to take over the airliner. In the passenger seats were more than 150 people, most of them Israelis, on a flight to Tel Aviv.

So the likely motive was not hard to figure out.

Numerous news outlets used words such as "fight," "brawl," "altercation," and "clash" to describe what appeared to be an act of terrorism.

A headline at The New York times said an "altercation" had occurred in the cockpit between the pilot and co-pilot. When social media mocked that vague description, the newspaper doubled down with a statement it doesn't publish "speculation or unverified information."

Media analyst Tim Graham, of the Media Research Center, says the liberal news media seemed to suffer from amnesia about Middle East terrorism.

"I think the dominant trend here was to say, 'Israel says it's terrorism,' which is accurate," he tells AFN.

But the Israel-hating media, Graham said, was also hinting to a leftist audience the Israelis can't be trusted.

The best example of that came from the BBC. Describing the cockpit attack, an anchor stated an Israeli official, Ben Gvir, is calling it a terrorist attack. Gvir was described by the anchor as a "far-right" national security minister to the BBC audience.

The very worst reaction came from conspiracy theorists who called the incident a "false flag" orchestrated by Israel's Mossad and its prime minister, Benjamin Netanyahu.

R&T Media, a popular YouTube channel, make the claim of a "false flag" in a post that was built around several false assertions about the incident. The channel's owner, Michael Lofton, questioned how the hero passenger claimed he opened the cockpit door, when the pilot actually opened the door for help to stop his attacker.

In a related poll, with 34,000 votes, Lofton asked his subscribers if they were "buying this story" of a terrorist attack. Answering the question, 92% chose "false flag" over "official narrative."

Case Regarding Religious Preschools and State Funding to be Heard by Supreme Court

Supreme Court is really going to say what matters is if you use magic words or not."

The case came about because Colorado created a universal preschool program which gave families 15 free preschool hours per week at public and private schools. While this benefit is worth around $6,000, families won't receive the benefits if they send their children to a school that adheres to the Catholic faith.

According to Politico, Colorado officials argue that faith-based preschools are not exempt from the program. However, the schools have to abide by the state's anti-discrimination laws, including discrimination against the LGBTQ community.

Because Catholic schools typically do not accept children from same-sex relationships, in accordance with their faith, they are excluded from the program.

Dan and Lisa Sheley are one couple who were rejected from the program since they wanted to send their children to the Archdiocese of Denver. The Sheley family and the Catholic school are the plaintiffs in the lawsuit.

Reaves noted that the policy is hurting religious enrollment and threatening the future of faith-based preschools.

"It's not just about the money... but it's about the ability to keep having Catholic and other religious preschools. It was actually a coalition of Catholic, Lutheran, and Jewish groups that came to the state and said, 'hey, we need a religious accommodation here,'" Reaves states.

Oral arguments for the case, known as St. Mary Catholic Parish v. Roy, are scheduled for the Supreme Court to hear on November 3, with a decision expected sometime next spring.

"Fortunately, I'm blessed enough to be able to work here with my laptop with the job that I have. My wife as well, she can do some stuff remotely. But some people, we have some police officers, nurses at hospitals, they need to get back and work. They have kids as well."

For now, Lucas said he feels safe at the moment. He said they are weighing their options – either waiting for the airport to reopen or potentially traveling by bus to Egypt to catch a flight home from there.

"We're holding out hope for things to settle down," Lucas said. "Ideally, the airport gets open. But if this drags out for more days, we'll start thinking about other options."

Despite the stress and uncertainty, Lucas said that he remains in good spirits.

"We're in great spirits overall," he said. "We're ready to be home. It's more the uncertainty that's kind of killing us. We have no real idea, but we're hoping things are getting closer."

Lucas said their church community in Meridian has been supportive, even raising funds to help cover additional hotel nights as they work to secure a safe route back to Idaho.

The group was eventually able to get flights to Egypt, then London, then returned to the US safely. They were thankful God saw them through the crisis, and surrounded them with protection.

Inside the bomb shelter

Kim Buie and husband along with her brother, were part of the marooned group of Christians. Kim narrates their experience to show God's hand on the trip and experience.

We happened to be all out to dinner celebrating my birthday on what we thought was the last night of our vacation when the war officially started, which also happened to be the sabbath where the entire country shuts down.

Escape to Egypt

We saw God's hand from the beginning- when we realized the flights were grounded. We exhausted every possible scenario of how we might get out of the region another way, but because of the Sabbath, we couldn't rent a car… we couldn't go to Jordan, Lebanon, Syria, or any other neighboring country whose airport wasn't grounded. It was the hand of God at work, because if we had found a way over there, we would've been stuck (their airports closed the next day) in a potentially more hostile situation where we weren't familiar with the territory and had no personal connections. God placed us in a beautiful hotel where they treated us so well right on the shores of the Mediterranean sea.

In so many ways, He truly spread a table before us spiritually, and naturally in the presence of our enemies - and the way He got us out was no less dramatic and wonderful. Just like Jesus, we escaped to Egypt - a place I never would've gone otherwise. When we reached Sharm El-Sheikh, Egypt, we stayed at one of the most beautiful resorts I've ever been to. We woke to find that we were right on the shores of the Red Sea. It was more gorgeous than I could've even imagined and the significance that this was the sea that Moses crossed over the with the Israelites after they escaped from Egypt was not lost on me.

None of us would have chosen to be there if we had known the conflict would break out, but the experience was probably one of the most epic vacations that I've ever been on. God's presence was palpable, and we were with the most wonderful people.

My late mother had traveled to Israel over 10 times in her lifetime - one of the reasons my brother and I wanted to see the land that she loved so much. She always said that she never felt safer than when she was there. I don't know that I would echo that sentiment entirely but at the same time, God gave us so much grace and I didn't feel afraid, even when things took a turn to the unknown. God is well able to protect his people. Amen.

New Documentary Corrects Liberal News Narrative of October 7

Hazen spoke with John Riley, host of American Family Radio (AFR)'s "Middle East Report." He said on the morning of October 7, 2023, people in the U.S. woke up to reports of an attack on Israel.

Levi Hazen

"That's nothing new. Israel's used to experiencing terrorist attacks and missiles and so forth," Hazen states. "This attack was different. Hamas terrorists, who are very open about their desire to eradicate not just Israelis, but Jewish people around the globe, broke through Israel's borders and slaughtered innocent civilians across multiple communities."

According to Hazen, they didn't go after soldiers, but rather, they went after women, husbands, and children.

"We woke up to these absolutely horrific reports of what had been done to the Jewish people. It was absolutely shocking because of the horrific nature of it. Hamas had body cams so that they filmed the whole thing. You could hear how joyous they were as they murdered and pillaged their victims," Hazen says.

What happened after October 7, he said, revealed something about the rest of the world.

"I think what we know now is that antisemitism never went away after World War II. The whole time here, it's been simmering beneath the surface, waiting for an opportunity to rear its ugly head," Hazen states.

"Shadows of October: Israel Under Siege" is streaming on all major streaming platforms.

Prime Minister Netanyahu Meets with the Heroes of the Flight from Dubai

The Prime Minister told them that with supreme heroism, resourcefulness, and faith they prevented a huge disaster and saved many lives.

Prime Minister Netanyahu also said [translated from Hebrew]:

"I urge the citizens of Israel to learn from you, to keep their eyes open and be vigilant. We are in a very sensitive time. There is an intent of our enemies to harm us".

Gideon Testimony: Kyle Miller

If you don't have that personal relationship and you're not serving him like you should, I encourage you to spend more time in your Bible, spend more time in prayer, and get around people that encourage you.

Get in a church, Bible-based church, where you can hear the gospel. People will influence you in the wrong way. They'll lead you down the wrong path. They'll lead you astray. They'll try to put peer pressure on you to do things you don't want to do, go places you don't want to go.

You had an opportunity here to give your life to Christ. Many of you already churched.

I can see it in your face. That's a great thing.

I went to my 50-year class reunion this weekend.

I looked at all the kids that I could have been a good witness to, that I could have prayed with, prayed for. People that thought I was lost and dead and going to hell.

God's got a plan for your life. He's got a purpose for your life. I'm here today because He's got a purpose in my life. Amen.

We distribute Bibles all over the world because of church folks that are standing before you, they donate, buy these Bibles, and we make sure that they make it to kids all over the world.

God loves you. Amen. He's the best for you. More than anybody in the world could possibly want. God wants you to be with him in heaven.

He's only kept me here for one reason, that's to distribute his word.

I'm convinced that every day I give my life to Christ. Every day. He's got a purpose for you.

Don't turn your back on God.

One Year Later, Turning Point Pursuing Next Generation Its Late Founder Died Trying to Reach school and college campuses, communities and faith communities nationwide.

The group now claims more than 1 million student members, compared with more than 650,000 lifetime student members listed for Kirk's organization before his death.

"When people think of the organization, they oftentimes think of what it is today—massive rallies, big arenas, hundreds of thousands of students. But that wasn't just overnight... Charlie worked years and years to build something truly great," TPUSA Chief of Staff Mikey McCoy said on Fox News Channel this week.

Believing in youth

McCoy said Kirk's core belief was that young people weren't the problem with America's future, but the solution — spending over four thousand days building an outreach network that continues to expand rapidly.

"I think about two forms of justice, right? There's one that's a prosecution team, a jury, a judge. And there's another form of justice that's kind of a responsibility for those of us who love Charlie that we have to take up. And that's remembering his legacy and his mission..."

With high school and college chapters up dramatically nationwide, TPUSA also plans to deploy over 50 conservative commentators across the country this coming school year.

There are ambitious goals to grow the organization in other ways. The Associated Press reported this week that Turning Point Action is actively expanding its political infrastructure, including plans to put staff in all 99 Iowa counties and recruit and register voters as it looks toward the 2028 Republican presidential contest.

In addition to Iowa, Turning Point Action grew its footprint in New Hampshire and Nevada for this year's midterms, which could also help in 2028.

Erika Kirk, Charlie's widow and the CEO and Board Chair for TPUSA, has endorsed a potential White House run by Vice President JD Vance.

Charlie Kirk's death, a dark moment in America, was quickly followed by revival, Kolvet said.

"What sparked was so many people thinking, maybe some even for the first time, 'okay, eternity is real, and we need to contemplate what happens after death. We need to contemplate what the truth about God is,'" Kolvet said.

Support for TPUSA was overwhelming.

There were calls and letters, stories from people who said Charlie Kirk helped save their marriage, others who said Kirk motivated them to get involved in their local church or in his organization.

All the stories were unique.

"It's been hard to explain, but it's like every ounce of your being was just being poured into making sure that you don't squander what Charlie gave his life for," Kolvet said.

Carpe Diem

The reaction caught Kolvet off guard

Living in the moment with Kirk, he could sense the movement growing, sense Kirk gaining in popularity more and more. But he didn't fully appreciate the extent of the growth.

"I had to consistently and constantly kind of recalibrate just how famous and how well-known he was becoming. I felt like I was always stuck like six months or a year back in the timeline," Kolvet said.

The event that would jolt Kolvet back to the present was never far away.

Sadly, the last event was also just around the corner. A year later, Kolvet can see the good in what man meant for evil.

"The spirit of the Lord was poured out on this country, and so many people were having the same collective realization, that life is short. The spirit of God was just collectively telling the entire country, seize the moment, seize the day. Tomorrow is not guaranteed," he said.

McCoy said the mission is simple: keep open dialogue alive.

"If you're a young person watching this, follow in Charlie's footsteps. Do what Charlie did. Build something great."

IMCNews publisher note:

Without JESUS as your Personal SAVIOR to save you from your sins, there is no Life. One must be 'born again' to be saved from the wrath of GOD. Their is only one SAVIOR and that is JESUS. Repent of your sins and obey JESUS today. If you died today without JESUS, you would be forever separated from GOD in Hell. Halloween: Separating Fact From Fiction

You see, Satan is not a joke. He's real. Though the Bible clearly states that God is the world's highest authority, He gave Satan a certain amount of power. With God's permission, the evil in this world is under Satan's control. This is why the apostle Paul said, "For our struggle is not against flesh and blood, but against the powers of this dark world and against the spiritual forces of evil in the heavenly realms." 1 Satan was the first one in history to openly defy God. He also started a way of life that was self-centered and rejected God's authority. That marked the birth of sin, which is nothing more than rebellion against God. 2

Today sin affects the entire human race. We are all guilty, and therefore all deserve sin's penalty. "For the wages of sin is death...." 3

FACT: God Loves You

But God loves you so much that He sent His Son, Jesus, to pay the ultimate penalty for your sins. "For God so loved the world that he gave his one and only Son [to die], that whoever believes in him shall not perish but have eternal life."4

Satan was defeated when Jesus Christ came back to life after first suffering and dying as our substitute.5 Satan is doomed. But you can escape the punishment for your sins. You can receive God's forgiveness and love by placing your trust in the fact that Christ died and rose again for you.

Once you know the FACTS, you can act on them by praying:

"Loving God, I am guilty of rejecting You and living my life without You. I understand that is sin. I believe Jesus bought my forgiveness when He suffered and died on the cross in my place. And I believe He offers me new life because He rose again on my behalf. I accept Him now as my Savior. Amen."

Persistent Citizenship: Turning Opposition to Antisemitism Into Democratic Action

survive through repeated participation, not occasional concern.

This responsibility should never be confined to the Jewish community. Antisemitism must be challenged by people of different religious, cultural and political backgrounds. The same principle requires opposition to prejudice against Muslims, Christians and every other community. Equal citizenship is not a scarce resource; protecting one group does not diminish another's rights or security.

History shows the importance of building coalitions across differences. Communities do not need identical experiences or beliefs to stand together against hatred. They need the courage to acknowledge each other's histories, reject dehumanisation and defend the democratic principle that every person should be able to participate openly and safely in society.

Dr Harper's central message is ultimately one of responsibility and hope.

Antisemitism is persistent, but it is not beyond resistance.

Citizens and institutions can prevent prejudice from becoming accepted culture when they act early, consistently and together.

The forthcoming book will explore the historical and modern forms of antisemitism, the different movements through which it can emerge, and the damage it causes to individuals, communities and Western democratic values. Bringing together voices from Australia and the United States, it will also consider the most important question:

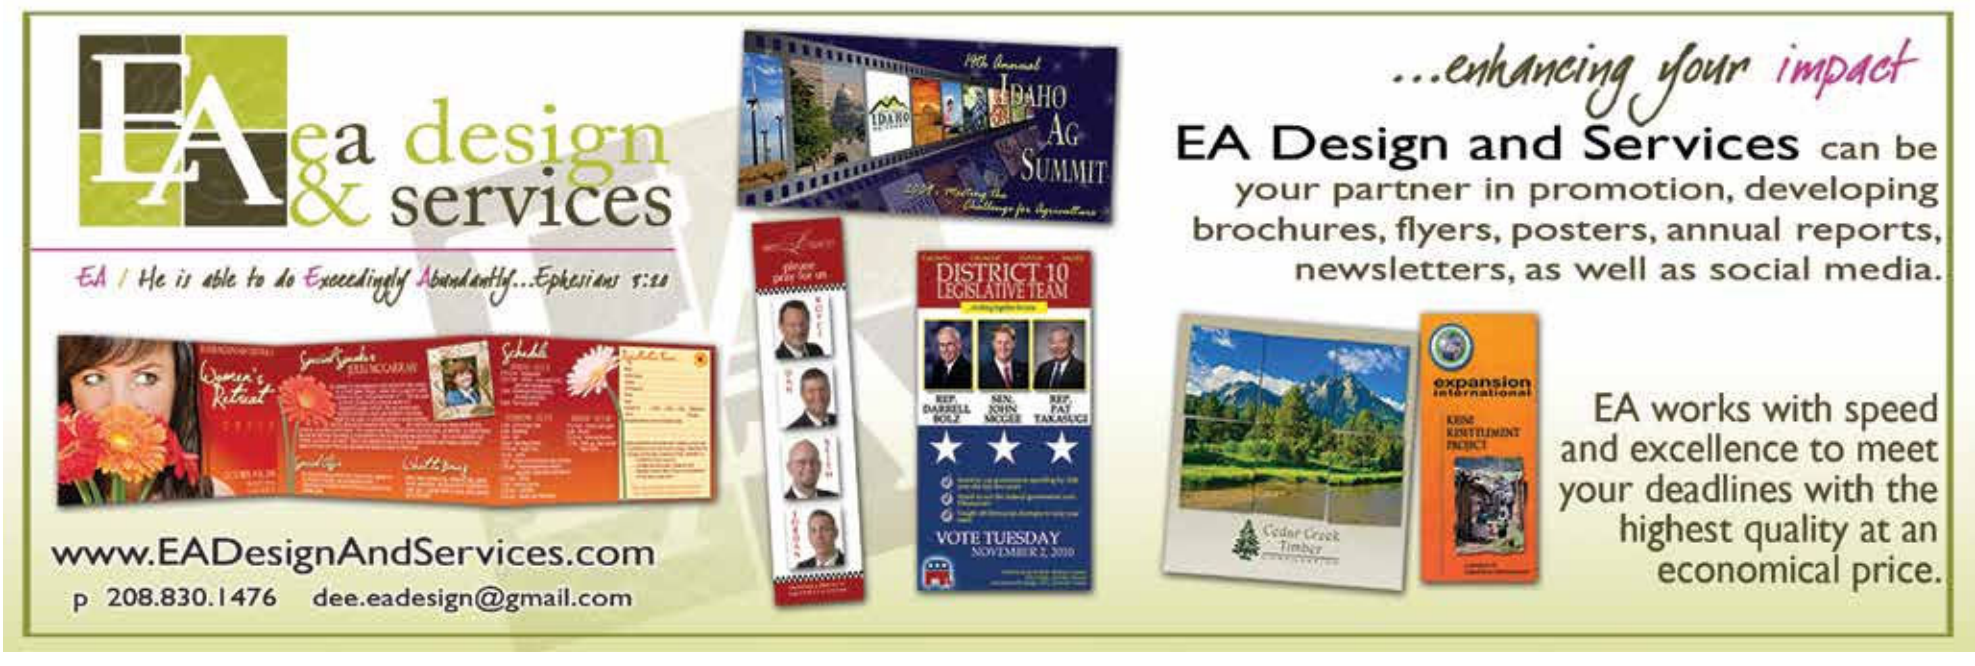

What happens when a hateful society believes it has learned to recognise returns wearing different clothes, and what must citizens do when it does?

This article offers only a glimpse of Dr Harper's wider contribution. The full chapter will examine how informed, principled and persistent democratic action can help turn opposition to antisemitism into a lasting civic responsibility.
